How can I support my child at home?

Get involved!

Parental involvement increases student motivation, achievement and attainment. Simply by reading this guide and understanding how, what and why your child is being taught at school you are better placed to help your child make further progress at home.

Talk to your children about the world around them.

Start by discussing your child's interests with them. They are constantly learning about the world around them and making meanings for themselves. Help them to articulate their thoughts and feelings about what is going on around them. The first step to supporting your child is enabling them to have frequent conversations with adults. This will increase the likelihood of them being exposed to tier 2 words. Tier 2 words are the type of words your child will come across in curriculum texts and is the sort of academic language they will need to know to succeed at school.

By 'putting things into words' (Lipstein and Renninger, 2007) verbally, your child will grow in confidence, particularly in literacy.

The influence of interaction with adults for children's development proves to be highly positive in not only broadening their vocabulary, but also preparing them for later life experiences (Gladwell, 2008).

Parents play a key role in their child's language acquisition, literacy development and confidence. Language exposure through parental talk can have a profound impact on educational outcomes (Hart and Risley, 2003).

How to use the Bedrock Talking Prompts

Here is how you can get the conversation started...

- The Bedrock Talking Prompts are a series of questions designed to encourage students to use the tier 2 words they are learning in their online vocabulary lessons in everyday conversation.
- Find a quiet place where both of you will be comfortable, perhaps your kitchen table? Or on the settee (make sure you don't leave the TV on!).
- Log in to your Bedrock parent account. Use your dashboard to see which Block and Topic your child is currently working through on Bedrock. We recommend starting with the prompts for the Block your child is currently working through.
- Take your time with each question. Remember, they are just prompts. Feel free to probe further for specific details and explanations.
- To improve their literacy, your child should always respond in full sentences, adding detail and explanations at every stage. Above all, make sure they use the target word in their response!
- Give your child as much time as they need to respond. Your child will need to stop and think about how they will respond. This is fine. They aren't being timed! A slow, reflective and well considered response is far better than a rushed, short and undeveloped one.
- Feel free to discuss how you would respond to each question with your child. Even if they don't always show it, they are usually interested to hear more about your thoughts and life experiences. Needless to say, the more times we can get them to listen to and use tier 2 vocabulary, the better!

Happy chatting!
